TO A BIRD IN HAND

We greet a brother institution. We assure you a sympathetic understanding of your problems. We honor you as one of the innumerable hosts who undoubtedly have entertained angels unawares. American democracy has solved the caste system in a better way. We know how to put these condescending snobs and parasites in their proper places in our thinking. Recognizing an infinite variety to human approach we have endeavored to become all things to all guests hoping thereby to serve with satisfaction. And if we could know in advance that a flattering epitaph would read that this Payne, '09, was a lover of hospitality and a lover of good men, we could die content.
